OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

THE NEWS. According to the report of a rebel deserter, Gen. Lee's force now numbers only 25. 000, but he expects to more than double this number by the time our forces get ready to make an attack upon him, and the old threat of an invasion of Pennsylvania is repeated. His success in such enterprises has been so indifferent, that it is

There is not enough yet of our report of Sherman's operations to tell his immediate destination, but Montgomery seems to be expecting him, with fear and trembling. If it be true that he has dispersed Polk's army, a triumphant march South would soom to be an easy work.

Our afternoon dispatches are of a very interesting character, but are a precise copy of what we had in the morning report, so we need neither repeat or give a synopsis of them. Gold is quoted at 581.

Agricultural College.

The outlines of a bill for the incorporation of a State Agricultural College will be found in our Madison letter, published to-day. We hope the people will take an early opportunity to protest against the passage of such a bill. If, in times of peace, with no State debt, and no extraordinary appropriations necessary to be made, it could be demonstrated that such nu institution would be beneficial, it certainly is no time now to make any partieular exertions to increase our necessarily onerous taxation. Whenever the State fear we have get a big job on our hands, embarks in this enterprise, thirty thousand | When will amendment No. 3 make its apdollars will be but a drop in the bucket in | pearance? comparison with the sums that will be asked and required to carry out the plan. It will be a long time before the lands donated by the general Government will be available to create any considerable fund for the support of the institution, and in the meantime large drafts will have to be made yearly upon the State Treasury; for, as we said, the appropriation authorized by the bill will be but a mere beginning of the expense required to keep the thing in running order.

Let us remonstrate at once, and firmly against this scheme, got up just now probably for the sole purpose of furnishing somebody with a good place, where he can live "at easo with dignity." It is not a fit time to be providing such places. The absolute wants of the Government will sufficiently tax the energies of the people for some years to come, and questionable and unnecessary expenditures and appropriations should be indefinitely postponed.

This is the first successful effort ever made to build up a similar institution in the West, and it should be the pride, as_it certainly is the interest, of every business man in this section of the State, to identify himself with its growth.

This Company issues non-forfeiting policies, upon which premiums are paid in five or ten annual payments. These nonforfeiting policies are very desirable, as they guarantee to the policy holder the benefit of all the money that he pays into the Company, and also enable him to pay tits premiums for the whole of life while he is young, or at an early period, thus relieving him from the burden of payment in old age. Insurance upon this plan, (as well as on all other policies that this Compuny issues) become due and payable at death, should death occur before the ten years expire.

It also issues the endowment policy which becomes due and payable to the party assured at a stated age specified. These latter policies are becoming quite popular, and are particularly desirable for young men.

THE NEWS. According to the report of a rebel deserter, Gen, Lee's force now numbers only 25, 000, but he expects to more than double this number by the time our forces get ready to make an attack upon him, and the old threat of an invasion of Pennsylvania is repeated. His success in such enterprises has been so indifferent, that it is very doubtful if he can be persuaded or driven to try again. He must understand by this time, an invasion of the Northern States, to any considerable extent is impossible. There has been a groundless rumor that Secretary Chase has resigned. With the more active movement of our armies, the day of canards will doubtless again commence.

There is not enough yet of our report of Shorman's operations to tell his immediate destination, but Montgomery seems to be expecting him, with fear and trembling. If it be true that he has dispersed Polk's army, a triumphant march South would soom to be an easy work.

Agricultural College.

The outlines of a bill for the incorporation of a State Agricultural College will be found in our Madison letter, published to-day. We hope the people will take au early opportunity to protost against the passage of such a bill. If, in times of peace, with no State debt, and no extraordinary appropriations necessary to be made, it could be demonstrated that such an institution would be beneficial, it certainly is no time now to make any particular exertions to increase our necessarily. onerous taxation. Whenever the State embarks in this enterprise, thirty thousand dollars will be but a drop in the bucket in comparison with the sums that will be asked and required to carry out the plan. It will be a long time before the lands donated by the general Government will be available to create any considerable fund for the support of the institution, and in the meantime large drafts will have to be made yearly upon the State Treasury; for, as we said, the appropriation authorized by the bill will be but a mere beginning of the expense required to keep the thing in running order.

Let us remonstrate at once, and firmly against this scheme, got up just now probably for the sole purpose of furnishing somebody with a good place, where he can live " at enso with dignity." It is not a fit time to be providing such places. The absolute wants of the Government will sufficiently tax the energies of the people for some years to come, and questionable and unnecessary expenditures and appropriations should be indefinitely postponed.

[Cublished February 24, 1864.] CHAPTER 80.

AN ACT to amend section 4 of chapter 39 of the general laws of 1804, entitled "an act to authorize towns, cities and incorporared villages to raise money, by tax, for the payment of bounties to volunteors for the military service of the United States, and to provide for the levy and collection of the same."

The people of the State of Wisconsin, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows : Section 1. Section four of chapter thirty-nine of the general laws of 1864, entitled an act to authorize towns, cities and incorporated villages to raise money, by tax, for the payment of bounties to volunteers for the military service of the United States, and to provide for the levy and collection of the same," is hereby amended, so as to read as follows: "Section four. Said treasurer shall proceed forthwith to the collection of such tax, and for that purpose shall have all the power and authorty vested in him by law, for the collection of other taxes, and shall give notice as required in section sixty-nine, chapter eightoen, revised statutes, that the assessment days thereafter. Wherever he has spoken the press commend him highly.

> SOMETHING NEW .- The Milwaukee Daily Life has the following in reference to a gift concert soon to come of in that city:

A Novel THING .- As a matter of local news, we mention that Mr. W. Innes Martin of this city, is advertising in the daily papers a Gift Concert, to come off on the lst of March, the basis of which is somewhat novel for enterprises of that nature. The sum, of $405 is to be distributed in money; there being three gifts of $100 promised in Government Greenbacks, and $195 in smaller sams, in current funds. Besides this, the scheme offers a Molodeon, a Parlor Organ, a Sewing Machine, a $45 hible, two gold watches and a variety of other valuable articles—books, jewelry and dry goods. A gift is provided for every ticket sold.

The Quota of Rock County.

We give below an item of unusual interest to the people of Rock county, in the number of men already furnished under the call for "500,000 more," and an estimate of the number to be furnished by each town and ward in the county, based upon the supposition that the men wanted to make up the quotas are two-fifths of the entire number for 500,000. ANARAB IN A FIX.-Burton, the African traveller, tells a story of a fat but unfortunate Arab, who, passing with a carastopped by one of the petty despots of that region. The Arab was enormously fat: he was in shape nearly as broad as longlike a bale of Mobile cotton. Now, there is a tradition among the Unianwezi that their chief divinity resides in the body of a fat man. The luckless Arab no sooner appeared as doubt than he was hailed as a god; the best food and drink were set aside for him, and a temple was built of mud, in which he received his worshipers. This lasted for some time; and Abdallah thought is not such a bad borth to be a god Abdallah ms eccentric as the path of a comet, but no one questions his ability and thoroughness as a jurist.

—Richmond must be a pleasent city for Mr. Cobb leads on his femining forces the limits of a terribic drought, the king came and humbly implored the divinity for rain, "But I cannot make it rain," replied the Arab. "But you must make it rain," says the king. "But it is impossible." rain, "But I cannot make it rain," replied the Arab. "But you must make it rain," says the king. "But it is impossible," says the Arab. "Then, by Jove, we'll eat you for dinner," says the king—and all the congregation whetted their teeth, and cried angen. Burton adds that, but for an opportune rain-storin, the peor idol would certaily have been killed and CALIFORNIA TURPENTINE AND ROSIN.-A firm in San Francisco, who have purchased over two-thirds of all the rosin made in California since the husiness was commenced, say it is, for their purpose, far superior in quality to the rosin in the eastern states. The quantity of "crude gum' collected in Burle and Sierra counties from From this has been manufactured 7,250 gallons of spirits of turpentine, and boxes and barrels of rosin equal to 1,150 barrels, of an average weight of 250 pounds. It s also stated that the countless acres of The Story of the Redel Fleet.—There pine forests all over the foot hills of the Sierra Navada are destined to give employment to thousands in the manufacture of rosin and turpentine.

It is true that the Company has neither the age nor the accumulations of some eastern companies, but is gaining the lattervery fast; is vigorous for one of its age; is doing a large business, having issued 637 policies in the months of December and January just passed, and is doing its business as economically as the same can be done anywhore. It has for its guide, the experience of all older companies, and among its managers some of the best business men in the northwest.

This is the first successful effort ever made to build up a similar institution in the West, and it should be the pride, as it certainly is the interest, of every business man in this section of the State, to identify himself with its growth.

This Company issues non-furfeiting policies, upon which premiums are paid in five or ten annual payments. These nonforfeiting policies are very desirable, as they guarantee to the policy holder the benefit of all the money that he pays into the Company, and also enable him to pay his premiums for the whole of life while he is young, or at an early period, thus relieving him from the burden of payment in old age. Insurance upon this plan, (as well as on all other policies that this Company issues) become due and payable at death, should death occur before the ten vears expire. It also issues the endowment policy which becomes due and payable to the party assured at a stated age specified. These latter policies are becoming quite popular, and are particularly desirable for young mer.

FROM MADISON. ...

Editorial Correspondence.

Madison, Feb. 25, 1864. The main features of the State Agricultural College bill, to which-allusion has been made in some of my former letters, are as follows: The Governor of the State, the President of the Institution, and the your case, whatever it may be." President of the State Agricultural Society, shall be, each, a member ex-officio of the board of trustees; and they, together with David Williams, (Republican of Wulworth,) William R. Taylor, (Copperhead of Dane,) Charles II. Willia as, (Union Dem. of Sauk,) Edward Pier, (Republican of Fond du Lac,) Eli Stilson, (Copperhead of Winnobago,) and William Willson. (Republican of Dunn,) and their successors in office, are constituted a body corporate and politic, with perpetual succession, under the name and style of the State Agricultural College of Wisconsin.

The first meeting of the trustees shall he held on the first Wednesday of April, A. D. 1864, in the city of Madison, at which time and place, after determining the tenure of office of the several memhers respectively, by lot, they shall proceed to organize the board by the election of a chairman, a secretary and a treasurer, who shall severally perform the duties commonly required of such officers, together with such other duties as the board may see fit to impose, who shall give such bonds for the faithful performance of duty as the board may require, and as shall be approved by the treasurer of the state. Immediately upon the organization cf

the board of trustees, it shall be their duty to advertise for offers of a building site, and farm, for the college, and as early as possible, and at the farthest, before the first Wednesday of August, A. D., 1864, to select and secure the most eligible site, all things considered, within this State, for the said college; being governed in such selection by the following general conditions, to-wit: That the location be easily accessible by railroad, that it be healthful, that the farm embrace not less than three hundred nor more than seven hundred acres, that said farm be susceptible of ready improvement, and that it present as great a variety as possible of soils and ex-Upon the location of the institution, and, if practicable, before said location is determined, the board of trustees shall appoint a president for the college, who shall be ex-officio president of the said board, and of the faculty, and the chief executive officer of the institution in all its departments. (Just what necessity exists for this appointment before the college is built or even located, is not apparent, unless it be for the purpose of giving some and the duties of the position not at all laborious.) As soon as suitable accommodations are provided for at least one hundred students, it shall be the duty of the trustces to organize the faculty of the college by the appointment of a secretary and of such professors, instructors, and other offivers as the accessities of the institution may require.

The board of trustees, with the advice of the faculty, shall arrange the courses of instruction for the college and farm; but no scheme of education shall be adopted that does not conform to the provisions of the act of congress donating said lands, and in which the natural sciences and their practical application to agriculture, and the kindred arts are not made paramount. A full course of instruction shall embrace a period of not less than four yours, for the satisfactory completion of which, such degrees or honorary testimonials may be conferred, as the board shall determine.

The "scheme of education" contemplated by the act of congress, is in the following words: "The leading object of such College shall be, without excluding other scientific and classical studies, and including military tactics, to teach such branches of learning us are related to agriculture and the mechanic arts, in such manner as the legislature of the States may respectively prescribe, in order to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pur- original joke, Mr. Jones retired into the out saying, "by your leave, madam."

FROM MADISON.

Madison, Feb. 25, 1864. The main features of the State Agricultural College-bill, to-which-allusion has been made in some of my former letters, are as follows: The Governor of the State, the President of the Institution, and the President of the State Agricultural Society, shall be, each, a member ex-officio of the board of trustees; and they, together with here in five minutes is shouted the porter. David Williams, (Republican of Walworth,) William R. Taylor, (Copperhead: of Dane,) Charles II. Williams, (Union Dem. of Sauk,) Edward Pier, (Republican of Fond du Lac,) Eli Stilson, (Copperhead of Winnobago,) and William Willson, (Republican of Dann,) and their successors in office, are constituted a body corporate and politic, with perpetual 'succession, under the name and style of the State Agricultural College of Wisconsin.

The first meeting of the trustees shall be held on the first Wednesday of April, A. D. 1864, in the city of Madison, at which time and place, after determining the tenure of office of the several members respectively, by lot, they shall proceed to organize the board by the election of a chairman, a secretary and a treasurer, who shall severally perform the duties commonly required of such officers, together with such other duties as the board may see fit to impose, who shall give such bonds for the faithful performance of duty as the board may require, and as shall be approved by the treasurer of the state. Immediately upon the organization ci

the board of trustees, it shall be their duty to advertise for offers of a building site. and farm, for the college, and as early as possible, and at the furthest, before the first Wednesday of August, A. D., 1864. to select and secure the most cligible site, all things considered, within this State, for the said college; being governed in such selection by the following general conditions, to-wit: That the location be easily accessible by railroad, that it be healthful, that the farm embrace not less than three hundred nor more than seven hundred acres, that said farm be susceptible of ready improvement, and that it present as great a variety as possible of soils and exposures.

Upon the location of the institution and, if practicable, before said location is determined, the board of trustees shall appoint a president for the college, who shall be ex-officio president of the said board, and of the faculty, and the chief executive officer of the institution in all its departments. (Just what necessity exists for this appointment before the college is built or even located, is not apparent, unless it be for the purpose of giving some one a good place when the pay is abundant and the duties of the position not at all laborious.) As soon as suitable accommodations are provided for at least one hundred students, it shall be the duty of the trustees to organize the faculty of the college by the appointment of a secretary and of such professors, instructors, and other officers as the necessities of the institution

THE RETECTIVE'S STORY.

From the Springheld (Moks.) Daily Republican. Late in the Autumn of 1856 I was going home to Vermont for a short visite. Just I had got hold of a string which, followed as I stepped on to the wharf at Buffalo, a gentleman tapped me on the shoulder, and lars, and may be much valuable property. This way, if you please.

I said, "Don't be rude, my man. I am not on duty now, and cannot attend to your case, whatever it may be." "But I can to yours," retorted he, "so come along without any more ado." "Claim your baggage! Train leaves "My trunk! A check for Burlington!" said I.

" Check for the station house," put in my pertinacions, new-made friend. ... What on earth do you mean? You will make me miss the train," said I.

"But not the station," he replied, dryly, so come along."
"Will you please to introduce yourself before we proceed with our acquaintance?" "I am Dupaty Crane, of Buffalo," ho answered. "And I am Deputy Wood, of Chicago: But train's off. I will see you on my re-turn to Buffalo."

There was a little confusion. "All abourd!" shouted the conductor. And all aboard they got, excepting Deputy Wood and his trunk, which, to my speechless as the other. Deputy Crane Wood, of Chicago; but he thought his friends Smith, Jones & Co., might have hear of it. A few men were to be sta-been more fortunate, and, if I would have tioned in a private house opposite the sathe goodness to walk up to the City Hotel, where they boarded such as me for unmatural commotion about there before nothing, he would send for them. I knew the appointed hour. But otherwise all there was some mistake; but I thought it were to concentrate when the hour arrived, would linder me only one train, and, as the adventure might be worth all it cost, I One hour before daylight we were in would go along without further explana-

This notice had been published so long before, that I should never have thought of it again, had not the preson hand—all identifying me, from Smith down to the errand-boy, as being the identical man who was lurking around the promises in a suspicious manner the day before the robbery. "Woll, my man," said Deputy Crane, patting me on the shoulder, "guilty or not guilty ?"

Hungry," I replied; " and, if you please, we will go and get some breakfast."
"There is ice in that. But could you feed yourself with your hands tied together? That is according to the rules of the house," answered Crane.

" Now hold on, Crane," I exclaimed-"this joke has gone about far enough. We can telegraph to the chief in Chicago, and get our answer in half an hour, which will put the matter all right; and in the meantime I will eat some breakfast, and be ready for the noon express." Tearing a leaf from my memorandumbook, I wrote:

as I had not been in Euffalo before for more than a year, somebody had who looked wonderfully like me; and a thousand dollars was offered to any one who would produce him—which reward Deputy Crane ulmost felt in his pocket when he nabled over the affair. Jones apologized, and said he supposed they "must have been mistaken in the man, which perhaps was not strange, seeing our attention was not called to vou particularly at that time, and several months had intersened; mistakes will happen in very good families, however."

Having delivered himself of this doubtful admission of my honesty, and entirely original joke, Mr. Jones retired into the the counting-room, looking very moon-vinced; and the clerks, as if by common instinct, began to put back all the loose goods on the counter, as though they feared I would grab them on my way out of the store. Crane, I think, was thoroughly convinced, before I hade him good-bye at the dapot, that, so fav as I was concerned. it was all right; but persisted that it was a very natural mistake—begged my pardon, and hoped I would see him on my return.

For a month or more, while among my friends in Vermont, I thought little of the occurence. It is true the thousand dollar reward would occasionally come into my mind; but, as I was not employed in the ease, the prospect of getting it was exceedingly small. On my return, I spent a few days in New York, visiting old acquaintances, and making new ones, mostly among Joe was coming back on the next day; Bill (my new acquaintance) and the boys had been having good pickings, and they would probably be there to-morrow at four, if the real Joe did not come round before and clear up, or add to, the mystery of to-day. Joe evidently must be headed off, or the other pigeous would scatter be-fore they could be bugged. It was my main interest, having no local responsi-bility in the matter, to bag the thousand dollars and Joe. But as the street had two ends to it, and the bagging must not be done where it would frighten the other In the outset; so I sensitive constituted to wood for parior use, and in older the music lay the whole affair before the chief, and churches, schools, lodges, &c. One hour before daylight we were in our places, not to attract attention by going there afterward. It was a long, dreary forenoon. We fancied we saw now and then a suspicious person passing; but no more perhaps than we might expect to see on any other street in the city. Noon came. Great robbery in Buffalo. The store of Crackers and raisins had been dispused of Smith. Jones & Co. robbed of some thousand dollars worth of silks, besides notes and dollars worth of silks, besides notes and trained his appearance. Whether they and drafts for some thousand more. the clothes. Not a doubt of it," they all averred. But I had still to confess a great many doubts, as I did not see the slightest resomblance. I, who had seen myself for thirty-old years, ought to know better how I looked than they who had not seen me so many hours. But the sequel will tell who knew best. Pour o'clock came, and, as by agreement, we concentrated in front and rear of Hanseomb's saloon. I took my place in the rear, while most of the local stars dashed into the don. We had only a moment to wait before six or eight of the gang came rushing past us in their ner at the top of my speed, I was surprishair, freekled face, five feet cleven, dressed | ed for the instant to see him slacken his

We were not long in reaching No. 27 Grove street. My friend had the latch me at the station.

After breakfast we walked down to the illusion by exhibiting my star and demanding an unconditional surrender. He was belligerent—a tussel ensued, and for a moment it seemed doubtful which would win, Polly or the bear; but the distarbance soon brought several policemen to minty, &c. my aid, and my late associate was taken The Rev. off to the lock-up.

Hearing a commotion indoors, I thought it best to proceed at once to make an examination. So we turned the key, which was still in the lock, and walked in, without saying, "by your leave, madam."

Madam met us in the hall, and demanded our business. We blandly informed her that we knew something of her beautiful mansion by reputation, and were anxious to examine it curretves by gaslight, if she would be so good as to show us should havelt. It is remarkable for Croup. Full dearound. say, we went up stairs, down stairs, and in the lady's chamber: and wherever we went we found more goods than the most thrifty housekeeper could need. Down stairs especially there was a perfect store Family Sewing Muchines yet offered to the public. No WELLINERY COODS: representatives of a dozen other stores vhich had been robbed, were there. Smith found nearly all his lost silks, many others identified the whole or part of theirs, while much remained that was not claimed

COTTSCHALK ON KNABE. [Translated from the French.]

(Translated from the French.)

After having played on the Piane of Messas. Knalo & Co., it is impossible not to bear textiming to their qualities, which have sequired for them the endment reputation which they enjoy. The Biano of their manufacture, on which I have played, are exceedingly remarkable for their qualities. The bass is powerful without hardmess, and the upper notes sweet, elear and harmoniously mollow, (chrystallina,) and I do not hesitate to express in regard to those instruments my entire satisfaction, and to declare that they are equal if not superior to the best manufactured in Europe or this country by the most colebrated makers.

Signed,

L. M. GOTTSCHALK.

TOCK AND GRAIN FARM FOR SALE.—I offer for sale my form situate in section 22, 23 and 27, laying between four and five miles south of Jamesvilla on the River road, east side.

Sald farm contains about 324 acres of land, about 200 of which are fine, lovel prairie, the bulance comprising onk openings and heavy timber. The farm is in good state of cultivation. A large portion of the hand is newly broken. Upwards of 80 acres are now sown to Ryn and Winter Wheat, and land is ploughed ready for Spring crops, There are about 50 acres seeded down to Timothy and Clover.

The house is roomy, and the farm buildings all that are required to carry on a large farm conveniently. With the advantages of wood, water and prairie combined, few farms possess shuffar advantages. The roads are good, with no interruption to travel either in the despost show or moduliest times of the year. Many who are in the habit of driving on the River road between Janesville and Beloit will be faultiar with the beauty of the location.
